Banking and Finance

Pryor Cashman's Banking and Finance Group provides sophisticated legal counsel and day-to-day operational guidance to a wide range of banks, financial institutions and corporate clients. Each attorney is an experienced practitioner, applying highly valued practical legal and business approaches for commercial banks, foreign banks, bank holding companies, real estate investment trusts (REITs), broker-dealers, investment advisors, corporate borrowers and lenders, hedge and equity funds, venture capitalists and other financial institutions.

Depending upon the needs of the transaction, our Banking and Finance Group has the ability to assemble a cross-discipline integrated team to work together to provide clients with comprehensive and coordinated advice. This gives us the ability to offer counsel and assistance not only in connection with financing, lending and regulatory matters, but also with respect to securities reporting requirements, executive compensation and employee benefits, corporate governance regulation, litigation, and bankruptcy and workouts.
