Trusts and Estates

As carefully as you may have worked to preserve your estate for future generations, it is unfortunately all too common for questions and conflicts that could have been avoided to arise and begin to diminish its worth. Yet, whether it's a family matter or a business matter, or a combination of both, there are many options available for ensuring that your future goals for your loved ones and business associates are achieved.

Pryor Cashman's Trusts and Estates Group diligently and creatively attends to the complete estate planning and estate administration needs of clients, which include both individuals and corporate entities, and also has extensive experience in all aspects of litigation involving trusts and estates. With our thoughtful and detail-oriented approach to a broad range of estate-planning needs, each client benefits as we discuss and develop estate plans that meet clients' goals of wealth preservation, tax reduction, wealth transfer and charitable giving.
