Lisa M. Buckley joined Pryor Cashman in 1996 and has been a partner since January 2000. Her major practice area is litigation, including complex commercial, securities, intellectual property and entertainment litigation and arbitration, primarily involving music licensing, publishing and recording. Lisa advises clients on securities-related issues, participates in National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD) arbitrations and represents clients in connection with Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) investigations and other matters. She also represents entertainment clients in cases alleging copyright and trademark infringement, theft of trade secrets and violations of the rights of privacy and publicity.

Lisa is a 1989 honors graduate of Rutgers University School of Law, where she was Order of the Coif and a Tischler Scholar.
