Partner Kenneth Schulman Appears on Paula Abdul's New Television Show

As is the case with its many entertainment clients, Pryor Cashman has performed a wide variety of entertainment and related services for client Paula Abdul over the many years the firm has been representing her. Never before, however, had an attorney from Pryor Cashman appeared on a reality show with a client. That changed last week when Paula Abdul's new reality series, Hey Paula!, premiered on the Bravo Network on June 28, 2007 with two one half-hour episodes. Pryor Cashman partner Kenneth Schulman, long-time attorney for Ms. Abdul, appeared briefly in the second episode, accompanying her when she received the YMA Fashion Award.
