Partner Ken Schulman Organizes Successful Fundraiser For Ronald McDonald House With American Idol Stars

Recording artists and Pryor Cashman clients Jordin Sparks, Ruben Studdard and Brooke White all performed at a November 10, 2009 fundraiser for the Ronald McDonald House, which provides temporary housing for pediatric cancer patients and their families and is the largest facility of its type in the world.

The event, which took place at the Ronald McDonald House on 73rd Street in Manhattan, was organized and arranged by Pryor Cashman Partner Ken Schulman, a longtime and active supporter of the Ronald McDonald House, and was an overwhelming financial success.

Pryor Cashman Partners Howard Siegel and Ken Schulman represent the three recording artists who performed at the event, as well as many other American Idol alumni including Paula Abdul, David Cook, David Archuleta, Blake Lewis, Kimberly Locke and Justin Guarini.
