Associate Michael Campoli Authors Legal Update on Recent Amendments Adopted by SEC that Require Enhanced Compensation and Corporate Governance Disclosures

On December 16, 2009, the Securities and Exchange Commission adopted several new and amended rules that require public companies to provide enhanced disclosure of risk oversight, compensation and other corporate governance matters.

Pryor Cashman Corporate Associates Michael T. Campoli and Yavonia G. Wise have written a Legal Update that describes these new and amended disclosure obligations. To read the update, entitled “SEC Adopts Changes to Compensation and Corporate Governance Disclosure Rules,” please click here.
