Partner Donald Schuck Quoted in Wall Street Journal Story About No-Fault Divorce In New York

Partner Donald Schuck, Co-Chair of Pryor Cashman's Family Group, was quoted by The Wall Street Journal on July 7, 2010 in connection with its story "No Fault Divorce Likely Coming To New York."

The story reported that Governor David Paterson is expected to sign legislation allowing for no-fault divorce, a move that would make New York the last state in the country to remove a cumbersome requirement that forces couples to place blame on one spouse for a marriage's end.

Schuck told The Wall Street Journal that "New York's holdout on the law has become antiquated. It can potentially slow down the practice of divorce when there are plenty of other issues to get to."
