Partner Todd Soloway Awarded Legal Aid Society Pro Bono Award for Fifth Consecutive Year

Pryor Cashman Partner Todd E. Soloway, Chair of the firm's Real Estate Litigation Group, will be honored by the New York-based Legal Aid Society as a recipient of the society's 2008 Pro Bono Awards for outstanding service to the society. Every year, Legal Aid, the country's oldest and largest provider of legal services to the indigent, recognizes the outstanding work of volunteer lawyers who participate in the society's Pro Bono program.

This will be the fifth consecutive year that Soloway has been a recipient of a Pro Bono award from the Legal Aid Society.

The awards ceremony will be held on October 8, 2007. The Honorable Judith S. Kaye, Chief Judge of the N.Y. Court of Appeals will be presiding over the event and presenting the awards.
