Lisa DeBellis
Infinnia Inc.
ldebells@infinnia.net

After years of studying the art of design and over a decade of working with deadline and budget oriented companies, Lisa DeBellis started her own company, Infinnia Inc. Offering hands on, attentive design services that take the client all the way from an original idea to completion, Infinnia assures each client that their desired "look" and their individual professional message stands out from the crowd, going beyond generic. When designing for the web, Infinnia provides the computer designed pages to the technology companies. Capturing the essence of a company's philosophy and telling a business story visually is Infinnia's specialty. From identity programs, newsletters and brochures to web sites and direct mail, Infinnia delivers results.
