Pryor Cashman's Tax Group is reflective of the diverse and entrepreneurial nature of our law firm. The Tax Group provides creative and practical tax advice in connection with a wide range of transactions and financial issues – applying the knowledge of our attorneys and their understanding of each client's business objectives with careful review of all applicable financial and personal considerations.

In the complex and continually changing area of tax law, any given situation may require consideration of various tax sub-specialties, such as corporate, partnership, compensation and state and local tax law, and the skilled attorneys in our Tax Group are always prepared, efficient and responsive to the client in any given situation.

Pryor Cashman's Tax Group regularly collaborates with other practice groups within the firm in order to achieve the best possible outcome for our clients.
